4. Qualifying Review:

Among the Qualifications mentioned above, those who wish to apply (9), (10), (11) or (12) * must undergo a “Qualifying Review” prior to the application period. Individuals who pass the review may apply for the master entrance examination

*The criteria for academic background and research periods (years of experience) to apply for Qualifying Review (12).

Educational background	Research period after the latest academic year (years of experience)
(a) Graduate of a junior college (two-year course)	2 years or more
(b) Graduate of a junior college (three-year course)	1 years or more
(c) Graduate of a technical college	2 years or more
(d) Graduate of a specialized course (two years or more) of a specialized training college	More than the period calculated by subtracting the term of study in a specialized training college (specialized course) from six years.
(e) Graduate of a Japanese campus of a foreign university, international school, specialized training college (except specialized courses), or other schools and educational institutes in Japan and overseas.	The number of years can be calculated by subtracting 16 from the total years of formal education, including years expected to attend. The individual's research period (years of experience) * must be greater than the remaining number to be eligible for a Qualifying Review. (e.g. If the total number of formal educations is 12 (having completed high school), then the calculation is 16-12=4. The individual then must have a research period (years of experience) * that exceeds 4 years.)
(f) Individuals who withdrew from any schools mentioned in (a)-(e) above.	The number of years can be calculated by subtracting 16 from the total years of formal education until withdrawal. The individual's research period (years of experience) * must be greater than the remaining number to be eligible for a Qualifying Review.

*Research period (years of experience) should be the total of all periods below:

(Including an estimate of expected research periods until March 31, 2024)

- (A) Period of being enrolled in a university or junior college as a research student.
- (B) Period of being enrolled in an advanced course of junior college or a technical college.
- (C) Period of being employed as an educator or a researcher in the field of education or research at a place such as a university, junior college, government office, research institute, or company.
- (D) Other periods equivalent to (A), (B), and (C).

7.Examination Subjects, Date and Location

The examination will be conducted at the Faculty of Medicine Lecture Building in as follows

Date	Time	Exam subject	Remarks
August 18 (Fri.), 2023	10:00a.m.-18:00p.m.	Oral examination	Oral Examination Form <prescribed form> Bring 6 copies
/		English	TOEFL, IELTS or TOEIC score Conversion based on the conversion formula established by the Graduate school of Medicine

*1 Applicants are possible to enter the examination room 45minutes prior to the examination starts. (at the Faculty of Medicine Lecture Building)

Please meet at the Faculty of Medicine Lecture Building 30 minutes prior to the exam time and be seated in the designated place.

*2 Please present your Examination Slip when you enter the place for examination.

*3 In case of late, inform the staff at the entrance of the examination hall up to 30 minutes after the start of the examination.

Generally, the examination will not be accepted after 30 minutes have passed since the start of the examination.

*Details such as meeting time will be instructed in the "Test Taker Precautions" sent to those who passed the first screening test.

【Process for administering the Oral Examination】

In the Oral Examination applicants will be asked whether they are learning the level of understanding and basic knowledge about (1) the research that applicants have done or are conducting at a university faculties., or (2) the research that applicants want to conduct after entering the Graduate School. In principle, we ask about (1) and (2) if there is no one that falls under (1).

The applicant will first give a presentation within 7 minutes, and then will be followed by a Q&A session by the interviewer.

The point of evaluation is not the amount of exhaustive knowledge that is answered in a typical paper test.

The key point is whether the applicant has qualities such as enthusiasm, attitude, creativity, judgment, and logical thinking skills when conducting research as a graduate student.

In the case of (1), be able to talk in detail and logically in your own words about the purpose, importance, research method and its principles, possibility of application, social significance, etc. about the research themes conducted or conducted in the faculties of the university.

In the case of (2), be able to explain the research contents as specifically and logically as possible while describing the same items as (1).

(1) and (2) In any case, print 6 copies of the Oral Examination Form (prescribed form) that summarizes the contents in one sheet using charts etc. as appropriate, bring 6 copies on the day of the oral examination (Friday, August 18, 2023) and submit it according to the instructions of the person in charge. It can be created by hand or on a computer, but it should be below the underline of the format. The languages used are Japanese and English only.

Note:

In Oral Examination, applicants can hold their Oral Examination Form only. After submission of 6 Forms, one will be given back to the applicant for him/her to make a presentation accordingly.

Applicants are not allowed to choose the Form from out of the 6 by themselves.

It is not possible to bring any presentation notes to the examination room. Speak in your own words.

In addition, it is not possible to use an electronic display device (personal computer, tablet, etc.) nor distribute materials other than prescribed Oral Examination Form to the interviewer.

8. Announcement of Successful Candidates:
